POST-COVID TRAVEL PLANNING

The Travel Planning Basics

- Check that the country you are travelling from will allow you to travel to your chosen destination for non essential reasons.
- Check that the country you want to travel to accepts visitors for non essential reasons from the country you are travelling from.
- Check that the country that issued your passport will allow you to travel to your chosen destination for non essential reasons.
- Check that the country you want to travel to accepts visitors for non essential reasons from the country that issued your passport.
- Check whether you will be required to quarantine either on arrival to you destination or on your return. Just because you are allowed to travel there for non essential reasons does not mean you won't be required to quarantine.

Choosing Travel Companies

- Check recent reviews on Tripadvisor and social media (search hashtags associated with the company) to see customer's travel experiences post-COVID.
- Check the companies website for clear communication on how their policies have been changed in order to promote safety.
- Choose a company with flexible booking & refund policies.

Things to Do Before You Go

- Complete any documentation required by the country you are departing from and the country you arriving in is completed by the required deadlines.
- Call your travel insurer to check you are covered for medical and disruption cover to the country you are travelling to.
- Leave more time at the airport that you usually would, social distancing & additional cleaning measures mean it may take longer to get to your gate.

Packing Essentials

- Comfortable reusable mask
- Spare medical grade disposable masks
- Hand sanitiser with over 60% alcohol
- Wipes with over 60% alcohol
- Tissues
- Snacks
- Reusable water bottle

Cleaning Your Hotel Room

- Open the windows to get the air circulating.
- Clean all high-touch surfaces e.g. door handles, light switches, remote control, phone, sink faucet & toilet flush handles.
- Wash any glassware or crockery if they are not sealed in a wrapper.
- Wipe down your suitcase, if it was checked, it has potentially come into contact with a lots of people & surfaces.

Final Tips

- Always check the official government advice for the country you are travelling from, the country that issued your passport & the country you want to travel to.
- Don't assume that nothing will change between when you book your travel & when you depart. Countries are being added and removed from each government's non essential travel list on a frequent basis.
- As per the above point, have a back up plan for if your trip doesn't happen, even if it's just enjoying some chilli margaritas in your back garden.
- Last but not least, ensure you are comfortable with the changes being put in place and do not be afraid to speak out if the airline/hotel/restaurant aren't sticking to their own policies. Do bear in mind though that they are working in challenging conditions and trying to keep their policies updated and staff morale positive in a constantly evolving situation.
